

#EngagingMenAndBoys

Men won't sit back and be silent in the movement to end gender violence and domestic violence. Men and Boys are raising awareness and working for prevention, and Shiv Gupta is one of them. Here is a message Jai:

Here is a message from Jai Loonker:

Gender based violence has predominantly been a women's battle, but now it is the time to change that. Let's learn to equally respect each other as we are all capable of achieving progress in today's society. We must identify and stop gender discrimination and gender abuse!

About the participant: Jai Loonker is a student at the University of Southern California, pursuing a BS in Aerospace Engineering. He loves to dance. Through sharing his creative passion on social media platforms, Jai hopes to spark a drive amongst his peers to follow their dreams and achieve the best version of themselves.
