

#EngagingMenAndBoys

Men won't sit back and be silent in the movement to end gender violence and domestic violence. Men and Boys are raising awareness and working for prevention, and Mithil Chakraborty is one of them.

Here is a message from Mithil Chakraborty:

--As an Indian American, I think it is important for young men to speak out against domestic violence and take initiative to challenge the patriarchal norms set in our community. Maitri's mission really resonates with me, as I think the South Asian community should focus on promoting healthy relationships and gender equity.

Mithil Chakraborty is a teen Indian American singer/dancer from Saratoga, CA. Ever since he was a toddler, he has loved performing. Mithil has performed at various events, including the Golden State Warriors halftime show, the Reception for Prime Minister of India Shri Narendra Modi, and the Gaana Music Festival.
